3. Safety and procedures

Bertil Åkerlund went through the current safety procedures for organized drives on the Ravnberga hunting grounds.

The following procedures remain unchanged:

- Radio silence applies during drives unless safety considerations require otherwise.
- The hunt leader is responsible for stand allocation, assembly and debriefing.
- Any departure from an assigned stand must be reported to the hunt leader.

Torbjörn Ek reminded the meeting that some parts of the area still have a weak signal in the denser stretches of forest. Bertil Åkerlund noted that the devices will be checked before the opening day.

4. The hunting cabin and practical matters

Gustav Falkenswärd informed the meeting that during the autumn the Ravnberga estate will carry out a review of older leases, procedures and agreements relating to the hunting grounds.

The hunting-rights agreements are to be renegotiated after the season, before next year's hunt planning is finalized.

Bertil Åkerlund stated that the current arrangements have worked well for a long time and that any changes should be made with great caution.

Gustav Falkenswärd noted this view and stated that the matter will be dealt with as a whole once the season has ended.

7. Any other business

Elias Ekenstierna asked whether the old map material is still kept in the hunting cabin. Bertil Åkerlund stated that the maps are still in the filing cabinet. Torbjörn Ek reminded the meeting that certain boundary markers in the eastern part of the area should be checked before later drives.
